

Recall Circuits

This game helps teach your dog that recall is best thing ever and will help get them flying back to you when you call them!

You'll need to make sure you've spent lots of time charging your recall cue before you play this game!

How to Play:

1. Arm yourself with your dogs favourite treats!

2. Picture a triangle on the floor with about two meters between each point (you can put markers out if that helps). Each point on the triangle is a 'check point'.

3. Put several treats on the floor at check point one on the triangle and let your dog eat them

4. As your dog is hoovering up their treats jog to the next point in the triangle

5. Wait for them to look up from their treats and as soon as they do, shout their recall cue

6. When they get to you, celebrate and drop another pile of treats at your feet

7. While they are eating jog to the next point in the triangle

8. Repeat, Repeat, Repeat!

To make this harder:

1. Change the direction you run around the triangle
2. Make your triangle bigger!

Top Tip: Make sure you wait until your dog has finished with their pile of treats before you call them, you're looking for the moment their head lifts off the ground

If your dog is losing focus make the triangle smaller or try it in a less distracting environment
